Radar Installation near Binz

1. The installation was visited on the 14, 19, and 24 June 1951, and on each day it was observed to be in operation. At one time nine Russian enlisted men, in naval uniform, were seen standing around the installation.

Radar Installation near Kloster

1. On 13 and 23 June 1951, it was determined that this installation was exactly the same as the one in Binz. It was in operation on both days.

Radio Station near Gohren

- a. On 17 June 1951, it was found that the installation had been removed, all telephone cables taken down, and the area cleaned up. The unit had left no litter.
- b. On 25 June 1951, a Signals truck, with an aerial stretched between two poles dug into the ground approximately 5 meters apart, was occupying the same position as the Signals truck reported previously. A party of four Russians, wearing naval uniform, were observed standing around the installation. Two telephone cables supported on auxiliary poles led from the truck to the "Reichspost" telephone cables alongside the road, to which they were joined.
